Mirror Effect:

Drop Shadow:

Photoshop Layer Effects includes Drop Shadow. As the name implies, this type of shadow is created when a light source is almost directly above a floating object—the silhouette of the object making the shadow is dropped onto the surface that receives the shadow. Drop shadows are cool for Web graphics and the text on most issues of PC Magazine. In the realm of photorealism, however, objects almost never float above a surface, and lighting is almost never so perfectly directed at an object that the object's silhouette is the shape of the shadow.
